Prof to lecture on FBI

Gerald McKnight, professor of history at Hood College, will speak on "Stalking the Federal Bureau of Investigation: The Hazards and Rewards of Investigating the Investigators" on Monday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in Rosenstock Auditorium on campus. The lecture is open to the community.

His presentation will include both the personal history of his ongoing research on Martin Luther King Jr., the Poor People's Campaign, the FBI and conclusions he has reached regarding civil rights under J. Edgar Hoover's FBI.

Dr. McKnight will be the guest speaker for the fourth annual Beneficial-Hodson Faculty Lecture.
